Program Description

Texas State University has a long tradition of conducting research to strengthen the ties between educational theory and practice. The vision of the Counseling, Leadership, Adult Education, and School Psychology Department's doctoral program in education is to prepare leaders who will become change agents committed and prepared to improve the quality of learning communities and learning across the life span.

The doctoral program in education with majors in school improvement, and adult, professional and community education is designed for individuals in a variety of educational roles who wish to develop and refine their abilities to provide educational excellence. The program takes an interdisciplinary approach to educate leaders who will understand the need for continuous school improvement and lifelong learning and see education in the broader context.
